For club players in particular, it's important when choosing a racket that the length and model match their usual swing motion. In this SR version, the model is designed for adults and older junior players transitioning to the senior level who are looking for a balanced combination of reach, ball control, and experience on the court. The designation T31 FR refers to the specific model of this racket and is particularly relevant when you want to specifically choose a familiar setup again.

When making your selection, it's worth briefly comparing the length and design with the racket you've been using.
