The CCM HTC 920 TACKS SR RED is a senior combo ice hockey helmet designed for regular practice and games, where a noticeably adjustable fit and good airflow are just as important as protection. Especially on the ice, when intensity and speed increase, it makes sense to have a helmet that can be adjusted precisely and doesn't get unnecessarily hot around the head.

In everyday hockey play, this model's strengths really shine when a helmet needs to not only protect but also remain comfortable during extended periods on the ice. The combination of AER-TEC ventilation, Nest Tech, and the TotalDri sweatband helps keep the helmet dry, while the R3FLEX lining combines comfort and cushioning. For senior-level club players, the ADPTFIT-360 adjustment system is also practical, as it allows for quick adjustments to length and width without additional tools. The red version is paired with a black FM580 face mask.

When selecting a helmet, be sure to choose senior size L and the desired helmet shape.
