BLUE SPORTS BLUE WOMEN'S GROIN PROTECTOR DELUXE 7101 JR is a women's groin protector for hockey that provides support and pelvic protection. Especially for youth players, it's important to have equipment that provides protection in situations where quick changes of direction, physical play, and tight game situations are part of training and matches.

Product information

- Product Type: Women's groin protector with athletic support
- Protection area: Pelvic area
- Intended use: Hockey training and games
- Model: Deluxe
- Size: M
- Protection size: JR
- Fit: Designed for junior girls

The combination of sports support and pelvic protection is particularly useful for young female players who need their gear to fit securely and be worn discreetly under other protective equipment. In hockey, freedom of movement is crucial, yet sensitive areas require a well-designed complement to the rest of the protective gear. The Deluxe version positions this model within the product line as a slightly more feature-rich variant, without losing sight of its focus on simple, sport-specific functionality.

An important factor in selecting this product is choosing the right combination of body protector size M and protective gear size JR to ensure a proper fit for youth players.
