In hockey, a properly fitting groin guard is part of the basic equipment, especially when quick changes of direction, physical play, and hard shots are part of everyday play. This model is tailored to the needs of female players and combines protection for the pelvic area with a sporty design. As a result, it's a great fit for club players and ambitious junior players in the senior division who choose their equipment carefully and without unnecessary compromises.

For a comfortable fit, it's worth coordinating body protector size M and protective cup size SR with the rest of your gear.
