SHOCK DOCTOR GEL MAX POWER CARBON SR is designed for players who are looking for a mouthguard that offers a noticeable sense of protection and improved airflow during hockey practice and games. This model combines a classic fit with a gel construction, high breathability, and cushioning designed to withstand hard hits.

- Product Type: Mouthguard for hockey and other contact sports
- Technology: Gel Max Power with carbon construction
- Protection: Designed for high impact protection and shock absorption
- Ventilation: improved breathability
- Fit: Classic fit
- Mobility: supports a light and agile playing experience
- Size: SR

Especially in fast-paced hockey, a mouthguard makes a difference when protection, breathability, and comfort all come together. The Gel Max Power model is ideal for adults and older youth players during regular training and games when a sturdy solution is needed on the field without the mouthguard feeling unnecessarily heavy. The improved airflow helps you stay calmer even during intense moments, while the cushioning provides additional support during contact and when deflecting pucks.

Size SR is suitable for seniors. For a snug fit, be sure to select a size that matches the player's age and bite size.
