Product information

- Color: blue
- Sizes: JR, SR

Especially for young players, a properly fitting mouthguard should be part of their standard equipment from an early age. On the field and in the gym, there are often close-quarters battles, deflected balls, or chaotic situations in front of the goal. In moments like these, what matters is gear that's simply part of the routine and doesn't require much attention in everyday use. That's exactly where this SID mouthguard fits in: simple, sporty, and focused on the essentials.

For clubs, parents, and young players, finding the right size is especially important. JR is generally suitable for junior players, while SR is for older teens or adults.
