Product information

- Other versions: also available in 38 mm x 9.14 m and in several colors
- Usage: for wrapping around the upper shaft area

A good grip tape often makes a bigger difference on the ice than it seems at first glance. When wrapped around the stick handle, it helps maintain a consistent hand position and ensures a clean feel for stick handling, passes, and shots. The 38 mm width is well-suited for classic wrapping around the upper shaft, while the roll length is sufficient for several fresh wraps. In everyday club use, this is particularly helpful when sticks are regularly re-taped depending on wear and tear or personal preference.

Before making your selection, it's worth taking a quick look at the desired tape length and your preferred color for your team or personal setup.
