The SILOPAD Achilles/Instep Pad relieves pressure on sensitive areas of the foot where skates or shoes apply the most pressure. The Boot Bumper 22290 model is designed primarily for players who experience recurring friction in the Achilles area or on the instep during practice or games and who want to specifically improve the fit of their equipment.

- Product Type: Padding for the Achilles area and instep
 - Protection area: Pressure and friction zones on the foot
 - Applications: Hockey skates and similar tight-fitting shoes
 - Function: Additional padding at high-stress contact points
 - Fit: Designed for localized relief within the shoe

Product information

- Sizes: SR S/M or SR L/XL
- Model: Boot Bumper 22290

Especially with snug-fitting hockey skates, even small pressure points can quickly become bothersome, even though the skate generally fits well. This is exactly where this pad comes in: It creates an extra layer between the foot and the shoe in an area that's heavily stressed during push-offs, changes of direction, and extended time on the ice. This is particularly useful for club players who train regularly and don't want to completely change their equipment.

For optimal performance, choose a size that ensures the pad reliably covers the affected area without adding unnecessary bulk inside the shoe.
