- Installation: Intended as a replacement part for compatible skates

Especially during intensive training and games, it's worth replacing individual components when they show wear or damage, rather than replacing the entire skate. A blade holder of the correct length ensures that the familiar fit with the boot is maintained and the setup on the ice remains balanced. This is especially important in everyday club use, when equipment needs to be back in action quickly.

Before installation, the 254 mm bracket length should be compared with the existing skate and the previous model.
