ZERO KUFÉ BR EDGE is a pair of blades designed for hockey and is intended for players and clubs that prefer a clearly defined design when replacing blades. The 238-mm stainless-steel version is a good option for replacing existing blades, provided the length and mounting fit the boot being used.

Product information

- Length: 238 mm

Especially during regular training sessions or in everyday club life, having a suitable spare pair of blades saves time when existing blades need to be replaced or a second set needs to be on hand. Stainless steel is one of the most proven materials for blades and is valued in hockey for its robust, sport-specific properties. The BR EDGE model is particularly appealing to players who want to tailor their equipment specifically to their existing system and prefer not to experiment when choosing blades.

It's important to ensure the correct length of 238 mm as well as compatibility with the boot and blade mount.
