In everyday hockey life, clothing that works without much thought is especially important. The blend of materials combines the comfortable feel of cotton with the low-maintenance properties of polyester, making this shirt ideal for regular training and everyday club activities. In white, it looks clean and sporty without being flashy. For adults in the senior age group, it works well as a simple team shirt, for off-ice training, or as a casual addition to indoor gear.

When choosing a size, it's helpful to consider your preferred fit, as this model is described as having a somewhat fitted silhouette.
