In day-to-day game situations, equipment that doesn't distract is essential. Padded referee pants provide support exactly where a balanced combination of mobility and additional coverage is needed over the course of many games. This is especially important for referees who consistently move with the action throughout the entire game, follow changes in direction, and prioritize gear that works well together. The black design fits the classic look on the ice and integrates easily with existing referee gear.

When selecting a size, check the desired adult size; sizes M, L, and XL are available.
