EXEL G MAX BLACK are protective shorts for floorball, designed for players who value extra protection in the hip and buttock areas during practice or games. Especially during intense movements, physical contact, and falls on the indoor court, it's important to have shorts that can be worn under your uniform without unnecessarily restricting your range of motion.

- Product Type: Protective Shorts
 - IntendedUse: Floorball training and games
 - Protection Area: Additional protection for the lower body
 - How to wear: as undershorts under sportswear

Product information

- Sizes: S, M, L, XL

These protective shorts are particularly useful in everyday club activities, especially when training regularly and when quick changes of direction, one-on-one battles, or uncontrolled contact with the floor are part of the routine. The black design blends discreetly into your gear and pairs well with standard match and training apparel. Unlike regular shorts, the focus here is not only on the fabric's functionality but, above all, on providing additional protection against the typical stresses of indoor sports.

For a clean fit, choose a size that ensures the shorts fit snugly without restricting movement while running or when crouching low during play.
