Protection size-1: SR

CCM TACKS XF 80 SR shoulder pads are designed for senior players who are looking for noticeable protection during practice and games without sacrificing a slim, flexible fit. The design combines light weight with solid coverage in the shoulder and upper body areas.

- Protective structure: two-layer PE foam with compression-molded panels
- Shoulder caps: JDP injection-molded construction
- Front: Two-layer PE foam front with sublimated comfort lining
- Back: compression-molded back panel with sublimated lining
- Material: lightweight PE plastic in the protective zones
- Ventilation: Comfort lining with improved air circulation
- Adjustment: Length adjustment for a more personalized fit
- Sizes: Senior in S, M, L, and XL

Especially when you're on the ice regularly with your club, it's important to have gear that isn't bulky but still fits reliably. The low profile of these hockey shoulder pads helps keep you free to move under your jersey, while the contoured elements absorb impacts and contact during normal gameplay. The soft interior lining ensures comfort even when a practice session runs long or the pace stays high.

When selecting a size, it's worth checking the appropriate Senior size and considering how snugly the shoulder pads will fit when worn with elbow pads and pants.
