Especially for junior players, a properly fitting groin guard is an essential part of the basic equipment on the ice. This model is designed so that the cup is included as part of the set, making the protection complete without any additional accessories. For parents and young players, this makes choosing equipment pleasantly straightforward, especially when looking for a clear and uncomplicated solution for practices, school hockey, or everyday club activities. Sizes ranging from XS to L help adapt the groin guard to different stages of development in the junior category.

It's important to choose a size that fits snugly and doesn't slip around under the hockey gear.
