- Fit: Designed for freedom of movement in hockey

In hockey, pants must withstand frequent changes of direction, low running positions, and repeated stress. This is exactly where a model like these CCM pants comes into its own: functional, clearly designed for the sport, and free of unnecessary details. For parents and clubs, this is especially helpful when looking for reliable gear for children and teens that integrates well into daily training routines and maintains a neutral appearance.

When choosing a size, it helps to check the existing team or training gear to ensure the length and fit are suitable for the movements on the field.
