Product information

Color: black
Bends: T92
Stick size: SR

The TRUE HZRDUS 3X4 SR is a composite hockey stick designed for senior players looking for a direct, quick shot during practice and games. The low-kick profile facilitates an early shot release, which is particularly noticeable when time is limited in the slot or when taking wrist shots. In addition, the shaft features a square-cornered design with a double concave, ensuring a secure grip when handling the puck.

- Technology: optimized low-kick profile for a quick shot release
- Construction: shaft with square corners and double concave
- Blade Construction: Reinforced blade with three strategically placed ribs
- Grip: glossy grip surface, textured blade
- Curvature: T92
- Hardness: 65, 75, or 85
- Blade orientation: left or right
- Size: SR

On the ice, this balance is most evident when puck control and shooting come together in a single motion. The textured blade provides a crisp feel for the puck, while the reinforced blade construction improves energy absorption at typical impact points. This aids in precise passes, quick shots, and a clean release. The black finish maintains a classic, understated look.

When selecting a stick, it's worth considering the appropriate stiffness, blade direction, and your preferred T92 curve based on your playing style.
