Product information

Player hardness: 60
Color: black
Bends: T92
Stick size: INT

TRUE HZRDUS 3X4 INT is a composite hockey stick designed for youth and club players who are looking for a quick shooting motion and a direct feel for the puck during practice and games. The low-kick profile is designed to channel power toward a quick release, which is particularly noticeable in tight game situations and when taking shots with little preparation time.

- Technology: optimized low-kick profile for a fast shooting motion and direct energy transfer
- Construction: shaft with square corners and double concave
- Puck feel: glossy grip surface and textured blade
- Blade construction: reinforced design with three strategically placed ribs
- Curvature: T92
- Hardness: 60
- Size: INT
- Variant: black, left- or right-handed

In everyday hockey play, this stick's strength really shines when there's little time left to take a shot. The shaft shape fits comfortably in the hand and ensures a clean connection to the puck during stickhandling. Added to this is a blade that's reinforced at typical impact points, providing a more precise feel during shots and passes. For intermediate-level players with a Flex 60, this is a well-balanced stick when a responsive composite stick is needed for regular ice time.

When selecting a stick, be sure to choose the correct blade orientation and the desired T92 curve.
