The TRUE HZRDUS SMOKE SR is a lightweight hockey stick designed for senior players who want to keep the pace of the game high and release the puck quickly. The low-kick profile supports a swift shooting motion, while the SRT-4S 4-Rib Blade Design is engineered for direct energy transfer and precise puck release. The black finish maintains a clean and understated look.

- Technology: SRT-4S 4-Rib Blade Design
- Kick Point: Low-kick profile for quick shot release
- Shaft Shape: Rounded geometry for controlled stick handling
- Weight: approx. 360 grams
- Curvature: T28 or T92
- Hardness: 65, 75, or 85
- Blade orientation: Left or right
- Size: SR

This setup really shines during intense training and match play: The stick reacts quickly in tight situations, stays stable in your hand while dribbling the puck, and supports shots taken with minimal setup. This is particularly well-suited for ambitious club players who want to minimize time spent on shots and direct takeaways. The combination of low weight, a round shaft shape, and fast loading characteristics is clearly aimed at players seeking a direct, modern feel on the ice.

When selecting a stick, it's worth paying attention to the curve, stiffness, and blade orientation to ensure the stick matches your shooting style and preferred hand position.
