Product information

Color: black

Stick size: SR

TRUE CATALYST NITRO SR is a hockey stick designed for ambitious players at the senior level who are looking for a direct feel, a quick shot, and precise puck control. The Catalyst line is known for its responsive handling, and this model is clearly designed for players who have little time in tight situations and want to handle the puck without any fuss.

- Product Type: Ice hockey stick for skaters
- Series: Catalyst
- Feel: direct and responsive
- Grip: non-slip shaft for a secure grip
- Blade: responsive with good puck feel
- Curvature: T28 or T92
- Hardness: 70, 75, or 85
- Model: SR, left- or right-handed, black

On the ice, this stick's character really shines during fast wrist shots, precise passes, and active stickhandling. Players who drive into the offensive zone at speed or need to shoot immediately from the slot will benefit from the balanced construction and direct feedback upon contact with the puck. This is especially noticeable during regular practice and game play for club players who aren't just looking for a stick, but for a setup designed for quick decisions.

Key factors to consider when selecting a stick include the appropriate stiffness, the desired blade orientation, and the preferred curvature—T28 or T92.
