Product information

Color: black

Stick size: JR

The TRUE HZRDUS 9X4 JR is a junior hockey stick designed for young players looking for a direct release and a responsive shooting feel. The low-kick profile facilitates quick shots from tight spaces, while the shaft shape—with square corners and a double concave—keeps the stick stable in your hand during puck handling and quick hand-to-hand transitions.

- Technology: RESFLO, PLD, AXENIC, SRT4
- Kick Point: Low-kick for a quick shot release
- Shaft shape: square corners with double concave
- Construction: reinforced shaft, one-piece design
- Blade: textured surface with four ribs
- Grip: glossy grip area
- Curvature: T28 or T92
- Hardness: 20, 30, 40, or 50; left or right; size JR; color black

On the ice, this balance is particularly noticeable when shots need to be taken without a long wind-up. The stiffer, precisely engineered construction is designed for clean energy transfer, while the blade's texture provides a clear feel when receiving and releasing the puck. This is particularly important in regular practice and junior competition, where a stick must not only be responsive but also remain stable during frequent use.

When making your selection, the most important factors are the appropriate stiffness, the desired curvature (T28 or T92), and the correct blade orientation.
