Product information

Protection size-1: JR

CCM TACKS XR 80 JR elbow pads are designed for junior players who train and play regularly and who are looking for a good balance of protection, fit, and price. The ASD construction provides clean coverage of the relevant area and fits naturally on the arm, ensuring that movements during one-on-one situations or stick handling are not unnecessarily restricted.

- Technology: ASD construction for a natural fit and solid coverage
- Elbow protection: anatomical JDP cap with donut padding
- Forearm protection: compression-molded foam
- Bicep protection: flexible design with plastic reinforcement
- Inner lining: sublimated lining for comfortable wear
- Closure: adjustable forearm strap for a secure fit
- Agegroup: JR
- Sizes: S, M, L

Especially for youth players, it's important to have gear that not only offers protection on paper but is also easy to wear in everyday situations. The contoured cap helps redirect impact energy away from the elbow, while the flexible bicep guard provides additional protection without making the glove feel stiff. Combined with the padded forearm area and the soft inner lining, this model is well-suited for everyday club activities, training sessions, and the first intense games.

To ensure a secure and stable fit, be sure to choose the right JR size based on your arm circumference and the desired length of protection.
