The CCM HTC 920 TACKS SR NAVY is a senior combo hockey helmet designed for players who value an adjustable fit, good ventilation, and comprehensive facial protection during regular practice and games. Especially during longer indoor sessions, the helmet's design—which effectively combines protection and comfort—really makes a difference.

- System: AER-TEC thermoregulation system for air circulation and heat dissipation
- Lining: 3-in-1 R3FLEX protection-comfort construction with dynamic shock absorption

Product information

- Ventilation: 3D-printed Nest Tech combined with AER-TEC TotalDri sweatband

- Face protection: FM580 full-face grille in black
- Age group: Senior
- Color: Navy
- Sizes: S, M, L

In everyday hockey, it's not just the first impression when putting on the helmet that counts—it's especially important how consistently the helmet stays in place throughout the entire session. The combination of AER-TEC ventilation, the TotalDri sweatband, and the R3FLEX lining ensures a comfortable fit, even as the pace picks up and the rink heats up. Added to this is the ADPTFIT 360 system, which allows for quick and easy adjustment of the fit. This is particularly appealing to club players who use their equipment regularly and are looking for a reliable balance between comfort, ventilation, and protection.

To help you choose the right size, simply compare helmet sizes S, M, or L with your head circumference.
