Product information

The ASICS GEL-POWERBREAK GS KIDS is an indoor shoe designed for young school-age players looking for a stable yet flexible shoe for field hockey or indoor courts. Especially for young players, it's important to have a shoe that responds smoothly to changes in direction and provides controlled support for the foot during quick movements.

- Technology: GEL cushioning
- Feel: Stable and flexible
- Outsole: features flex grooves for greater mobility
- Intended use: Indoor sports and quick lateral movements
- Age group: GS / Elementary school
- Sizes: 32.5 to 39

During training and games, the flexible sole construction helps athletes execute footwork more naturally—whether stopping, accelerating, or closing in on opponents on defense. At the same time, the shoe is designed for stability, which is especially important for children who are developing their technical skills and train regularly indoors. The GEL cushioning is well-suited for intense training sessions that require many short, quick movements.

For parents and clubs, the clear focus is what matters most: a junior indoor shoe for regular use, without unnecessary extras, but with the features that truly matter in youth sports.

When choosing a size, it's worth carefully comparing it to the child's current foot length, as indoor shoes should fit snugly and securely.
