Product information

Color: black

FATPIPE SHAFT RAW 29 LOW KICK is a floorball shaft designed for players who are looking for a direct, quick release and want to minimize time lost during attacks or in tight team play. The low-kick design promotes an active feel for the ball during quick shots, passes, and fast movements in indoor play. In black, the shaft has a clean and understated look.

- Product Type: Floorball shaft
- Technology: Low Kick
- Flex: 29
- Length: 96 cm
- Intended use: Floorball training and games
- Feel: Designed for a quick shooting motion
- Color: black

For club players in particular who want to tailor their setup specifically to their own playing style, choosing a single shaft is often the decisive step. The combination of a 96 cm length and a flex of 29 places this model in the range where many adult field players seek controlled, well-balanced handling. The low-kick characteristic is particularly well-suited to playing styles involving quick wrist shots and direct ball distribution, as is often required in modern indoor floorball.

Important when choosing: The shaft should match the desired overall length and the existing or planned blade.
