Product information

- Variant: left- or right-handed
- Color: neon yellow
- Suitable for: Players who want to choose or replace their blade separately

Especially in club settings or during regular training, a custom-selected blade makes a noticeable difference because the setup can be tailored more closely to your own playing style. For those who value a familiar blade shape or need to replace a worn-out part, this EXEL blade offers a suitable option within the product line. This is particularly appealing to players who don't want to constantly adjust to a new feel when receiving, dribbling, and shooting.

Be sure to choose the correct side: left for left-handed, right for right-handed racket orientation.
