EXEL AIR TURQUOISE is a floorball blade designed for players who pay close attention to the blade when replacing or fine-tuning their stick. At Exel, the AIR model stands for a lightweight blade, which is particularly noticeable during quick ball contacts, direct passing, and precise ball control. In turquoise, it also adds a striking visual accent to the stick.

Product information

- Intended use: Ball control, passing, and shooting in floorball
- Variant: Available for left- or right-handed play
- Color: turquoise
- Compatibility: Compatible with sticks featuring a replaceable Exel blade, depending on the shaft system

Club players and ambitious youth players in particular quickly realize how much the feel of the game depends on the blade. A lighter blade often feels more responsive in everyday play, such as when quickly taking the ball in tight situations or passing it after a short set-up. The Exel L AIR MB Blade is therefore designed for players who don't just want to replace their stick, but who want to consciously choose their handling characteristics.

When selecting a blade, pay attention to the correct blade orientation and compatibility with your existing shaft.
