Especially in club play, it quickly becomes clear how important it is to have a blade that allows for clean and controlled play. A lighter design promotes a quick feel for the stick when receiving the ball, passing, and shooting on the move. This is particularly appealing to field players who play regularly and want to fine-tune their stick setup or replace a worn-out blade without having to adjust to a completely different feel.

When selecting a blade, it's important to choose the correct blade orientation: left for left-handed players, right for right-handed players.
