The MCDAVID CROSS COMPRESSION SHORT is a form-fitting performance short designed for practice and games when a snug fit is needed under hockey gear. Especially during intense sessions indoors or on the field, it's important that the base layer fits snugly and doesn't restrict movement. In black, the shorts have a understated look and pair easily with the rest of your team or training gear.

For club players and performance-oriented training groups, compression shorts are often more than just an extra layer. They fit close to the body, remain discreet under shorts or gear, and provide a snug, secure feel during changes of direction, sprints, and repeated exertion. That's exactly what makes this design so appealing for everyday hockey play—it minimizes shifting under gear while maintaining mobility.

When choosing, the snug fit is what matters most. In size L and the SR version, this model is classified for adults.
