Product information

Color: diamond white

FATPIPE SILK DIAMOND WHITE is a floorball blade designed for players seeking a smooth feel for the ball when shooting and in tight playing situations. The SILK blade shape is one of the more refined options in the lineup and is particularly well-suited for technically precise direct shots and controlled passes. In the Diamond White finish, it has a clean and understated look, but on the court, it's the blade's direct contact with the ball that matters most.

- Product Type: Floorball blade
- Model: SILK
- Finish: Diamond White
- Material: PPS
- Blade orientation: Available in left- or right-handed versions
- IntendedUse: Floorball training and competition

Club players, in particular, who carefully select their stick setup, pay close attention to the interplay of shape, feel, and timing when choosing a blade. The SILK is designed to meet exactly this need: not flashy, not extreme, but engineered for precise ball control and a clean release. This makes it ideal for players who often have limited time during a game but still want to carry the ball with control or pass it quickly.

When selecting a blade, pay attention to the correct blade orientation: left-handed version for left-handed sticks, right-handed version for right-handed sticks.
